General Strikes have a long history going back to Ancient Rome. Since 1842 in Great Britain there have been over 35 General Strikes across the globe. The largest General Strike involved over 11 million French citizens in May of 1968. In 2010 America, corporations control law makers with unlimited campaign contributions that have essentially disenfranchised the average citizen. A General Strike will be a wake up call to restore our democracy or we will shut it down!
